How Live Painting Works

Every wedding painting is unique! Prior to the event we will discuss all options for the painting of your special day. In addition to working with the couple, I also handle all coordination with the venue coordinator. I will arrive at the venue about three hours before the event to set up and start painting the scene. I will continue to paint during the reception, while everyone is able to see the painting evolve! (approximately 4-5 hours of live painting) By the end of the reception, the painting is about 90% complete. After the wedding, I bring the painting back to my studio for finishing touches and to allow for drying time! Within a few weeks after the wedding, once the painting is completed and dry, I will schedule delivery or shipping of the painting to you!
